

Load or Find Your Music

Own the music? You have options:

Use these links to access Apple's notes for putting your music into the device library (Cadance uses the actual Apple Music library on your devices).

- Import songs from CDs on PC or Mac
- Use Finder to sync your device
- Push your music to your Apple Music subscription

Does either BarreNotes or the Apple Music app play your tracks?

That same music can be in Cadance, but be sure that you grant access. Go to the device's Settings > Apps > Cadance and enable Media & Apple Music.

In Cadance, look for your music under the center tab Albums / Artists in the device music library mode.

Your playlists and folders will appear under the Playlists tab, which is a sorted list of those found in your Apple Music library.

Skip the device library and play your music directly from Files:

See the Local Storage and Import Music topics.

Load music from syllabus programs and dance societies:

See the Syllabus tab and Import Your Music topics.

Explore the huge Apple Music library:

Our curated playlists are a great place to start, with many hundreds of albums represented.

Tap the ⋮ on the right edge of a track, select Open in source album, and check out the Artist's Catalog, now fully streamable with full tempo control.

You don't need a Subscription or Pass to explore, but will need Patron level or an active Pass to stream the music beyond 30 seconds.
