

Tilt Lock

Enable this in Settings. Useful on iPhones that are carried during class, and designed to eliminate the risk of random touches interrupting an exercise flow.

Locks the screen when the device is tilted beyond normal orientation and unlocks when the device is lying flat or held up facing you.

This is a 'set and forget' option that allows you to start an exercise and drop the phone into your pocket.

If you unlock this while in an unusual position (say on your back), that orientation will briefly become the new normal unlocked orientation.